Miss Susan Davis

ANNOUNCE TELSTAR WINNER OF HOMEMAKER AWARD

Susan Davis has been named Telstar High's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for 1972. She was chosen on the basis of her skill in a written knowledge and attitude examination taken by several girls on Dec. 7, and will receive a specially designed award charm from General Mills, sponsor of the annual educational program. Additionally, she is now eligible for state and national honors.

The State Homemaker of Tomorrow, to be selected from all school winners in the state in judging which will center on performance in the Dec. 7 test, will be awarded a $1,500 college scholarship. Her school will receive a complete set of Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc. A scholarship of $500 will go to the second-ranking girl in the state. This April, the 51 Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow representing every state and the District of Columbia—each accompanied by a faculty advisor—will be given an expense-paid educational tour of Colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D. C. Personal observation and interviews during the tour, added to the earlier state-level judging results, will culminate in the announcement of the 1972 All American Homemaker of Tomorrow. To earn this award, a girl must be planning a college major in nutrition or a related field, rank among the highest in her state in the overall Search examination and achieve the top score, from these meetings the first two criteria, or the test's nutrition questions.

During the 18 years since the program's inception, enrollment has totaled over eight and one-quarter million, and with this year's grants, scholarship awards will reach almost $2 million.

COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

The auditor from the State Department of Audit arrived Wednesday to review 1971 accounts.

At the Budget Committee meeting held Wednesday night all accounts were finalized except one pertaining to a proposed retirement insurance plan. Another meeting will be held next Wednesday night when all recommendations are expected to be completed. At the present, with the retirement insurance plan included there is an increase of $2,116 over last year's appropriations.

Wednesday, the manager and others from the area were in Augusta to attend a Legislative hearing on a proposed Bond Bank to be considered by legislature in the special session this term. This law would give all municipalities within the state the opportunity to pool their bond issues to make one large issue that could be more attractive to purchasers. This could make a considerable savings to Bethel when we have to borrow funds for sewage disposal.

MAGALLOWAY

Mrs. Beale Harvey, Corres.

A son was born to Mrs. Diane Glynn at the Connecticut Valley Hospital in Colchester on Jan. 15. Diane is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Glynn of Magalloway. The infant's name is Chad. A baby shower will be given Diane on Tuesday evening.

Leroy Olson called on his brother, Elmer, and on the Sunday evening. He has just recovered from an attack of influenza.

Mrs. Gladys B. met with Leroy Olson recently that she is quite well and that the weather has been cold in Fort Wayne, Indiana, where she is staying with her eldest son, Clinton. It was 10 degrees below zero one evening and the coldest she had ever known it to be there.

Gary Linnell who was injured badly in a snowmobile accident on the Hamard bridge recently, has been moved from the Connecticut Valley Hospital to the hospital in Berlin. He is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. (Gladys) Linnell Jr. of Magalloway.

Mrs. Hazel Harvey and her eldest daughter, Mrs. Kathy Aronson, were in Rochester, N. H., one day last week. Kathy plans to move to Berlin into an apartment. Quite a large bunch of boys were camped up Hamard last week. It was 20 below zero here last Sunday morning and on Monday morning 40° above.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Harvey were in Berlin Saturday.

The snowmobiles are very busy at present.

SUNDAY RIVER

Mrs. R. M. Fleet, Corres.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shaw of Bethel were in Berlin Sunday and called on R. M. Fleet.

Mrs. Barbara Viers entertained the Library Ladies Club Jan. 17. Mrs. Leta Reynolds expects to be on a trip with the homecoming for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wright to their river for awhile.

We are sorry to hear that Charles Dyer is having trouble with his ears and has to undergo surgery this week. If he gets well fast.

There was a small flock of 16 snow geese all together on some trash that had been thrown away.

There are many more Maydays around the feeder than all the small birds together.

We have had 316 inches of snow so far this winter and a big, which is old and old year.

GREENWOOD CL

Mrs. Collette Mergen

Thinking over my mail in the past two weeks, where the rabbits scan wood mice steal through feeds to avoid their foe, partridge is still, then whirr of wings, where a deer around a tree then where the other slides, where the bees left a nest, the pitted woodpecker along holes.

"There's a magic all about At any time of year; You only need awareness To see, and feel, and Verna."

At one time I chose a secluded lane where hemlock hands above me and my upturned face as I way through them to ridges.

At the top as I paused shadow on the snow caught attention. Something with its spread was passing above up in time to see the pile, pecker entering the wood. He was conspicuous with crest, great size, and wings. Following, I hope him again but saw only had been pounding away trees.

All around me I knew the eyed bunnies were watching where there were traveled through matted where the edge of the w through and where the snows collected in sheltering drifts. Then again swept clean by scouring.

Winter is more than snow stand on a hill top of day in January or walk within the woodlands. It is awesome and full of wonder.

Leaning against a rock through an opening among the distant clean horizon startled when Mr. Parton from his porch near by. But cheerfulness then blended all pervading shadows and peered.

Arriving at the Garland I, as usual, I noted the field where apple trees stand bare. Beneath them, lo like feather stitching, so prints were seen.

On the edge of the field now stood were the slender birches.

I took a last look at the trees touched with etheric the same mountains which Garland's people viewed; mountains Hamlin Garland this:

The mountains they are folk. They stand afar—alone; And the clouds that kiss their brows at night

Hear neither sigh or groan. Each bears him in his own place. As soldiers do, and bold as they told their forest round feet.

And bolster up the sky." Then I plunged into the forest. Travel was hard for deep and crusty. With caude my way homeward.

And then something dropped my feet! Quickly I looked and a squirrel was scampering back while beside me was his eaten apple he had dropped was going from limb to limb.

Go again I left the fragrant pines and spruces and maps of clouds as they rested snowy base on the horizon. If you'd look for beauty. Don't look afar.

The most lasting beauty is right where you are. Garnet A. So

GREENWOOD CITY

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

Thinking over my many journeys in the past two weeks, I can tell where the rabbits scamper, where wood mice steal through agitated weeds to avoid their foe, where the partridge is still, then there's a whir of wings, where the squirrels peer around a tree then dart away, where the other slides and plays, where the bees left a nest and where the pileated woodpecker digs his odd holes:

"There's magic all around for
At any time of year;
You only need awareness
To see, and feel, and hear."
Verna Lewis

At one time I chose the narrow secluded lane where hemlocks joined hands above me and caressed my upturned face as I made my way through them to the higher ridges.

At the top as I paused to rest, a shadow on the snow caught my attention. Something with large wings spread was passing above. I looked up in time to see the pileated woodpecker entering the wood's edge. He was conspicuous with his red crest, great size, and sweeping wings. Following, I hoped to see him again but saw only where he had been pounding away at his trees.

All around me I knew that bright-eyed bunnies were watching for every where there were tracks. I traveled through matted thickets where the edge of the wind rushes through and where the winter snows collected in sheltered and sheltering drifts. Then again in places swept clean by scouring blasts.

Winter is more than snow when you stand on a hill top on a clear day in January or walk the trails within the woodlands. It can be awesome and full of wonder.

Leaning against a rock looking through an opening among the trees at the distant clean horizon I was startled when Mr. Partridge flew from his perch near by. But he momentarily added brightness and cheerfulness then blended with the all pervading shadows and disappeared.

Arriving at the Garland Place far up, as usual, I noted the closing-in field where apple trees stood still and bare. Beneath them, to and fro, like feather stitching small foot prints were seen.

On the edge of the field where I now stood were the silver-sheen slender birches.

I took a last look at the mountains touched with ethereal light; the same mountains which Hamlin Garland's people viewed; and of mountains Hamlin Garland wrote this:

"The mountains they are silent folk,
They stand afar—alone;
And the clouds that kiss their brows at night
Hear neither sigh or groan.
Each bears him in his ordered place
As soldiers do, and bold and high
They fold their forest round their feet
And bolster up the sky."

Then I plunged into the dusky forest. Travel was hard for it was deep and crusty. With caution I made my way homeward.
And then something dropped at my feet. Quickly I looked and a red squirrel was scampering beneath a rock while beside me was his partner. An apple he had dropped as he was going from limb to limb.
So again I left the fragrant darkness of pines and spruces to face the clouds as they rested upon snowy base on the horizon.
If you'd look for beauty
Don't look afar,
The most lasting beauty
Is right where you are.

COUNTY JUDGE OF PROBATE TO SEEK RE-ELECTION

Albert Beliveau, Jr., has announced that he will seek re-election for another four-year term as Oxford County judge of probate.
Attorney Beliveau has practiced law in Rumford since 1964, after graduating from the Georgetown Law Center in Washington D. C. He was appointed public administrator for Oxford County in 1966 and served in that post until he was elected judge of probate in 1968.
He is the Rumford town solicitor, a post which he has held for several years. He is a member of the Maine Supreme Court Advisory Committee on Civil Rules, Maine State Bar Association, Grievance Committee, Maine Probate Judges Assembly, the National College of Probate Judges and the American Judicial Society. He is also a member of the American Bar Association, Maine Bar Association, Maine Trial Lawyers Association and the executive committee of the Oxford County Bar Association.
Judge Beliveau is married to the former Alice Clark, of Sea Girt, N. J., and they have three children. He is a veteran, having served with the U. S. Army in the Panama Canal Zone from 1958-1960.

tion is also brought out in citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. One reads: "The rich in spirit help the poor in one grand brotherhood, all having the same Principle, or Father; and blessed is that man who seeth his brother's need and supplieth it, seeking his own in another's good."

BETHEL AND VICINITY

The electrical power was reported off in several locations in the area Tuesday night as a result of damage caused by the high winds.
The W. S. C. S. will meet at the home of Mrs. Rita Dunn, Main Street, next Thursday, Feb. 3, at 1:30 p. m. Mrs. Ethel Ward will have the program.

MOST SNOWMOBILE ACCIDENTS DUE TO HUMAN ERROR

Because of a change in the criteria for reporting, the number of snowmobile accidents received at the Department of Inland Fisheries and Game is down somewhat from past years, but those reports received are anything but pleasant reading. Maine Fish and Game Safety Officer John F. Marsh said four persons have succumbed already to the use of snowmobiles with many others sustaining injuries that will be lifelong in their effect.
A 29-year-old Vermont girl's injury is listed as a compression fracture of the spine, a young Calais man sustained a skull fracture, a middle-aged Aroostook County man sustained a broken back; and the list goes on. In addition, a dislocated shoulder, broken ankle, fractured ribs, abrasions and one middle-aged woman with two broken knees.

Could any of these injuries have been avoided? Are snowmobiles really that dangerous? He asked.

Actually the causes of these mishaps remain quite simple usually. Many officers still list "operation in unfamiliar area without reasonable caution" as a common cause of mishaps, as well as "traveling too fast for conditions." The human element is almost without exception the deciding factor in snowmobile mishaps. In only one case was "mechanical failure" of the machine checked as the primary cause when a brake failure caused the operator to strike a parked auto.

In reading the accident reports it appears that a large percentage of all snowmobile mishaps could be prevented by the operator himself, whether he is experienced or a novice. If you own a machine and haven't had a mishap, stop and ask yourself, Marsh suggested. Is it because you are a cautious driver or have you been "just plain lucky?" "I would venture to say it is the latter in many cases. This being the case, maybe you should reassess your operating habits," he said.

Marsh brought up these questions: Do you always check for frozen throttle linkage before you start your machine? Are your brakes adjusted properly? Do you always allow proper distance for stopping? Do you ever "open 'er up" when you aren't just sure what's ahead? Do you take all turns to the right? When is the last time you checked to see how thin the ice was before you followed someone's track onto an unknown lake? When is the last time you operated in violation on a public way. Do you let your small daughter ride on the machine with a long coat?

Only you as an operator know the answers to these questions, but statistics will certainly indicate it if you are in the wrong on many of these questions. Then you are destined to become a snowmobile accident statistic; but this isn't necessary, as there are cautious drivers who have operated machines for 10 years without a scratch. The choice is yours.

WINTER CONDITIONS FOR DEER

The relatively mild weather over the past week and a half has improved traveling conditions for the wintering deer in Maine.

The Maine Fish and Game Dept. has compiled its second deer yard survey of the winter, which shows that deer in northern Maine are now able to move about in open areas where they could not two weeks ago.

Dr. Fred Gilbert, Department big game project leader, said that deer are moving about well in most sections. The survey was made in selected deer wintering areas statewide.

There are local mobility problems in northern Maine, but the general picture is one of improvement since the first report. The current observations were made Monday, Jan.

17, by field personnel of the Department.

Snow in the northern area averages about 25 inches in open, with deer sinking up to 20 inches in some places. In cover areas they are sinking up to 15 inches.

The area generally south of an east-west line through Greenville and to within about 40 miles inland from the coast shows good conditions but with a few problem areas. The coastal belt, about 40 miles or so inland from the ocean, has little or no snow but some scattered ice patches. The mobility situation is described as good to excellent.

OFFICERS AND COMMITTEE MEMBERS OF KIMBALL FAMILY ASSOCIATION MEET

Officers and committee members of the Kimball Family Association met with their president, Herbert E. Kimball, at Country Towne House Restaurant, Meredith, N. H., Saturday Jan. 22, and discussed plans for the 1972 Reunion.
This Reunion is to be held at N. H. Highway Motel Convention Hall, Concord, N. H., on Aug. 19, and will include an all day Hobby Show and business meeting, with election of officers.

Chairman of the Hobby Show will be Herbert E. Kimball, assisted by Mrs. Sandra K. Walker, Canaan, N. H., and Mrs. Linda K. Hall, Warner, N. H. It is expected that many Kimballs will demonstrate their craft work, while others will exhibit their varied collections.

Robert Kimball, Hampton, N. H., Immediate Past President, will be Chairman of the Nominating Committee. Volunteers were asked to serve on Registration and they will be announced later.

The January quarterly issue of the Kimball Newsletter, was mailed to all Kimballs currently on the mailing list, this past week. Mrs. Elizabeth M. Carter, West Bethel, Maine, the Editor, said that any Kimball descendant who does not receive one may write her for a copy. Contents of the April Newsletter were discussed, and it was agreed that announcements relative to the reunion program, meals, lodging etc., will be included in it, so that people can then begin planning their attendance.

It was announced that member Donald Spurr Kimball, has generously offered space in his well known camping area at Franklin, N. H., to any Kimball who would like to camp while attending reunion.

Mrs. Estella K. Martin, vice president, Rumford Point, reported that less than one hundred copies of the reprint of the Kimball Family History remain available, and urges that all who have not obtained their copy contact her at once, and also that libraries hopefully will obtain copies for their genealogical sections, so that families may research family lines.

The recent death of the Association's first treasurer, Mrs. Fay Taylor, Bethel, Maine, was reported, and sympathies expressed for her family and tribute paid to her devoted service.

Mrs. Eunice Kimball, Connecticut State Chairman, Middletown, Conn., introduced the idea of using the Coat of Arms for bookplates, and it was voted to order a supply of these at once. The Coat of Arms officially used by the Kimballs is that which appears in the original History of the Kimball Family by Morrison and Sharples, also in the History of the Joseph Kimball Family (Canterbury, N. H.).

Present at this luncheon meeting were: President and Mrs. Herbert E. Kimball, Rochester, N. H.; Vice-Presidents, Rupert Kimball, Nashua, N. H., and Mrs. Estella K. Martin, Rumford Point, Maine; Recording Secretary, Mildred K. 17, by field personnel of the Department.

Snow in the northern area averages about 25 inches in open, with deer sinking up to 20 inches in some places. In cover areas they are sinking up to 15 inches.

The area generally south of an east-west line through Greenville and to within about 40 miles inland from the coast shows good conditions but with a few problem areas. The coastal belt, about 40 miles or so inland from the ocean, has little or no snow but some scattered ice patches. The mobility situation is described as good to excellent.

TEACHER PROFILE

Mr. Bruce Brown is a teacher new to S. A. D. 44 this school year. He presently teaches Remedial reading at the Crescent Park and Ethel Bisbee Schools in Bethel.

Nearing completion of a Master's Degree in Remedial Reading from the University of Maine, Gorham, Mr. Brown became interested in the field as an English instructor at the Job Corps Center for Women at Poland Spring.

Bruce Brown

"Perhaps no skill is more important to scholastic success than is the ability to properly decode and comprehend the written word," he explains. "When one realizes that an estimated one of every four students in our country has a serious reading handicap, the challenge to all teachers, and particularly to reading teachers, becomes enormous indeed. For me, it's where the action is," Mr. Brown feels.

Born in Portland, Maine, Mr. Brown spent his first ten years in South Paris. "Moving to Locke Mills in September was a return home," says Mr. Brown who has several relatives in the Paris and Watford areas.

A graduate of Deering High School in Portland, Mr. Brown attended Colby College and completed studies in Political Science at Boston University in 1963. The following year he traveled extensively in Western Europe and studied "in a frivolous fashion" at the

BLACK DUCK INVENTORY SHOWS MINOR INCREASE

The 1972 winter waterfowl inventory shows that the black duck, the most important duck to Maine hunters recorded a minor increase of about 2,500 compared with 1971.

J. William Peppard, migratory bird project leader for the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Game pointed out in his report that even a slight increase is encouraging because the Atlantic Flyway black duck populations have been declining in recent years. Special harvest regulations have been enacted in recent years throughout the Flyway.

The 1972 inventory on the coast of Maine was started Jan. 4, and completed Jan. 10. Chief Warden Pilot George W. Later served as pilot of the plane and Peppard and Game Biologist Gary G. Donovan served as observers and recorders.

This particular survey is co-ordinated by the Federal Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife and is conducted during the same period wherever wintering waterfowl occur on the North American continent.

Habitat conditions on the Maine coast this winter are much more favorable than they were in 1971. Very little ice was observed, and favorite waterfowl feeding and nesting areas are readily available to the ducks. During more severe winters, cold weather and subsequent icing conditions create hardships and even losses to duck populations that are winter residents on the coast of Maine.

While a major increase was recorded this year for the elder duck, mild weather conditions are probably partially responsible since the survey is primarily designed to inventory black ducks. However, both breeding and wintering elder populations have been observed to be increasing in the past few years.

Also, a few more of our relatively new winter residents — Canada Geese — were observed this year. Geese were not known as winter residents in Maine until the past few years. This increase is probably due to both the overall increase in the goose population in the Atlantic Flyway and the transplanting of nesting geese to Maine by the Department of Inland Fisheries and Game.

Changes in numbers were also re-

WOODSTOCK ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Last Thursday Grades 3 and 4 of Woodstock Elementary School took a field trip to Augusta. They were accompanied by their teachers and several parents. In all, there were 61 children and nine chaperones. Their trip included both a visit to the State House and the Museum. The youngsters had been studying Indian lore, especially man's three basic needs: food, shelter and clothing.

Before the trip the Museum had sent slides to the school for them to use in conjunction with their study of the Indians. The guide reviewed some of the slides and showed some others and then the children were taken to a room where they actually participated in the activities of the Maine Indians.

This included the following: Scraped hides with stone (deer and small bear); Covered a straight pole wigwam with bark. Tried to make arrowheads with stone; Sewed leather together by hand; Made Pumpkin soup—smashed a pumpkin on plastic—cut it with wooden knives; Ground corn for corn meal; Big Bent Pole Wigwam—inside tried to make a fire by rubbing sticks together.

They went from one activity to another. They were not supposed to finish but to spend enough time so that they knew what the Indian did to meet his three basic needs.

Their tour of the State House included the House of Representatives and the Senate. They were also very impressed with the Flags, the Dome and the Stuffed Animals. The "big city" was exciting to some of the children too.

AMERICAN LEGION NOTES

The second meeting of the Mundt-Allen Post, American Legion, for January was held Tuesday night.

Commander Dave Myers mentioned that a donation had been asked by the ski team. It was voted that where the Post could not afford a donation at this time that we would let them use our new Post Home free of charge for a money-raising function of their own choosing.

Comdr. Myers also suggested installing a curtain to split the main hall, so that joint meetings could be held.

It was voted to sponsor dances twice a month for school students from grades 7 to 12 in the near future. Dances would be from 7:30 to 11 p. m.

Theron Clough will supply the music for the first dances until a juke box can be obtained by the Post.

The charge for dancing will be minimal and refreshments will be on sale. Supervision will be by the Post and Auxiliary and Town Officers.

It was reported that Henry Robinson was at Togus.

The Post has received an Honor Ribbon for exceeding their 1971 membership.

The next Oxford County Council meeting will be hosted by the Mundt-Allen Post on Feb. 15.

The Post now has 120 members paid up for 1972.

The next regular meeting of the Post will be on Tuesday, Feb. 8.

WEST BETHEL

Mrs. Lena Gilbert, Carver.
Richard Cox of Bangor Theological Seminary will be the guest speaker at West Bethel Union Church on Sunday, Jan. 29.

Pleasant Valley Grange members will meet this Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Burris.

On Tuesday we had all kinds of weather here, rain and sleet in early morning, followed by a snow storm. Temperature at noon in the 40° range with wind changing to west and clearing in the afternoon.

Mrs. Lena Westleigh received word Monday that her sister, Mrs. Corrie Cunningham of Hamford was in the Hamford Community Hospital suffering from a flu attack.

Roland Kneeland is reported to be recovering satisfactorily since returning from the hospital on the week end where he was taken Jan. 12 following a heart seizure.

Mrs. Ella Grover, who was taken by ambulance to Norway Hospital Friday, remains about the same by last report. Mrs. Grover has been in poor health for some time.

Mrs. Beverly Morrill of Yorktown Heights, N. Y., left for home Wednesday, after spending a week with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Roland Kneeland.

Mrs. George Luxton returned home Saturday night from a week's visit to Florida with her mother and husband Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wing and other relatives and friends. TELSTAR R. H. S. NEWS ALBANY

COUNCIL COMMENTS

A dark ominous cloud lurks over the heads of some students at Telstar. A cloud by the name of "mid-years exams". Ranks close soon and there is a fair amount of apprehension for some.

On the subject of ranks, Telstar will hopefully publish an honor roll this term. Through the combined efforts of many, we hope to set a precedent.

The ski team is skidding its way to victory this year. Saturday night, the 29th, the ski team is putting on a dance to earn money to go to the state meet at Fort Kent. Surely this is a most worthy cause so please buy a ticket even if you don't plan to go.

We have quite a few girls from here running for Bethel carnival queen. They are Betsy Stowell, Cathy Littlefield, Susan Bryant, Merry Thayer, Betty House, Julie Lowe, Jo Ann Farrow and probably a few that I don't know of.

See you at the game Friday.

—Roberta Croteau

Mr. and Mrs. Peralta Childs and son, Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Halsefield and daughter, Lynn, were dinner guests Saturday night. They are all from Marston Mills, Mass.

Mrs. Gladys Guernsey is now with her daughter, Mrs. Lillian Sullivan, in Alexandria, Va. She was recently discharged from the hospital.

EXAMPLE OF PHYSICS — Here we have a fine example of physics at Telstar. The picture shows Sharon Dombkowski and Ron Henley determining the range of a sling shot, an activity they need to do to complete their physics contracts. Their sling-shot is made of two metal plates fastened securely to the table edge. An elastic band is put between them. Here Ron is shown pulling the elastic plus copper projectile back at a 45° angle. Using the formula:

$$R = \frac{V_{max} (D \sin \theta)}{M (Ag)}$$

They have predicted how far the projectile will go after release. This stunt was later put on as a demonstration for their class. Notice their smiling faces. It should be a well-known fact by now that at Telstar, "Physics is Fun!" — co-authored by Sharon Dombkowski and Ron Henley.

Not until each loom is silent

Will God unroll the pattern
And explain the reason why
The dark threads are as useful
As the weaver's skillful hand.
As the threads of gold and silver
For the pattern which He planned.

MONMOUTH TALLIES 53-45 WIN OVER TELSTAR LAST FRIDAY
Monmouth Academy pinned host Telstar 53-45 in a fast Mountain Valley Conference basketball session last Friday evening, a match in which fouls played a major role. Telstar lost three players on disqualifications and was out-totaled 19-7 at the free throw line while outshooting the visitors from the field.

Monmouth drove to the fore in the second period with a 14-10 pick-up and added a 14-8 third quarter for an eight-point bulge. It was 18-18 down the stretch.

EAST STONEHAM

— Gladys Kilgore, Carver. —

Last Sunday the sixteenth, Mrs. Ethel Files entertained her son, John Files, Jr., and family to dinner, also Mr. and Mrs. Bob Grant.

Mrs. Vesta Nelson, Mrs. Marilyn Jones and daughter, Wanda, went to Lewiston, Wednesday.

Several from here attended the funeral of Russell Smith in Norway Tuesday.

Walter Bennett from Norway was a caller in town Tuesday.

We were all sorry to hear that our pastor's wife, Mrs. Kent, met with an accident Sunday on her way home from Portland. She was not hurt but her car was damaged some.

Miss Rosemary Fox and Miss Andra Evans from Lowell were supper guests at the Jones home Wednesday night.

Mrs. Edith Holt from North Waterford called on friends here Friday.

Several from here go to Norway every Thursday to sign up for unemployment.

UPTON

— Mrs. Arline Bernier, Corres. —
Fred and Ben went to Phillips Sunday to visit his aunt, Helen Cousineau.

Laurie Bernier spent several days last week at her home here.

Floyd Staples was at his camp during the week end.

Several snowmobiles were in the area during the week end.

Dr. Barnes was scheduled to go to Boston for tests and possible treatment this week.

The Robert Buck family and other relatives from Buckfield visited the Earl Buck family Sunday.

There is a warning sign near Jonnies' in Errol stating "Frost Heaves". By the time one reaches that point from either direction he is aware that it certainly does.

Hardly a week goes by without at least one rainy spell. We still have a thin snow cover which is hopefully enough to protect the roots and plants, but a snow storm would be a lot more welcome now than it was this time of year for the past several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lacombe were guests of their parents this past week end. They had not been up for awhile because of the death of Eleanor Lacombe's father.

This week let's send cheery cards to Leslie Fuller. He is well but has much less company and diversion this time of year and enjoys getting mail.

Louis DeBoer has moved to Colebrook for the rest of the winter. He continues to hold Sunday services at the school house and Bible study classes on Thursday evening.

Buster and Virginia Williamson have been watching two small deer that come out frequently near their house. The deer seem to have difficulty feeding so Buster has broken off cedar branches for them. The tamer one takes shelter from the cold under an over-turned boat as it apparently is very young and undernourished from having been born late in the year with little chance to graze. It also wags its tail in appreciation of the apples and other goodies which come his way.

Frosty, Leslie's beautiful husky dog, was severely injured presumably hit by a car.

High winds Tuesday were the likely factor in two power failures lasting over an hour each time.

Wednesday morning the roadsides were littered with twigs and branches. A large tree toppled just ahead of the bus but thankfully away from the road rather than across our path.

MT. ABRAM FISH & GAME MEETS
The Mount Abram Fish and Game Association met on Jan. 20 at the town hall at Locke Mills. After a hearty supper, the president, Harold Bennett, called the meeting to order. Alden Kennett spoke briefly on changes in the hunting laws. After the business meeting, a colorful and interesting film on Mexico and the Olympic Games that took place there in 1968, was enjoyed.

LOCKE MILLS
— Mrs. John Mills, Corres. —

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Day, Jr., (Bonnie Packard) are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Monday, Jan. 24, at the Stephens Memorial Hospital. She weighed 7 lbs. and has been named Kristie Sue.

On Monday evening Mrs. Rowena Dunham was presented with a bouquet of long stemmed red tea roses in appreciation of her nearly 25 years of devoted service as treasurer of the Locke Mills Union Church. The presentation was made on behalf of the church trustees by Arnold Jordan, outgoing chairman.

Mrs. Bessie Mason Carl is a surgical patient at the Henrietta Goodall Hospital in Sanford, Maine 04073. Her room number is 101 for those desiring to send cards.

Jane Hathaway, David Blanchard, Susan Packard, Quentin Tyler and Jeffrey Smith were among those accompanying Mrs. Epper's sixth grade class to Portland to attend the rehearsal of the Symphony Orchestra.

Laurie Wilson and Marcia Mills were on the sick list, Monday.

Mrs. Lillian Lapham was a dinner guest of Mrs. Vera Cross, Sunday.
